A comprehensive traffic management service delivered across the south of England and emergency support you can rely on 24/7, 365 days of the year.

Because we own our fleet of trucks; signs; traffic lights; and other equipment, our teams can respond within hours and solve your TM needs far quicker than many other suppliers. All of our staff are directly employed so we don’t pass on heavy agency costs to our customers. Our employees are NHSS and Lantra trained, and qualified to the highest standards. They are also committed to our values of professionalism and safety. From motorway and high-speed dual carriageway installations; to the supply and installation of temporary traffic lights; our solutions are cost effective, highly commended, and backed by an award-winning, experienced, and well-established business.

Whilst most traffic management schemes are carefully planned and organised, we are regularly called to incidents and accidents that can’t be predicted, but require a fast and effective emergency response. Often these events occur at times that are inconvenient to most businesses - such as on the weekends, during a public holiday or in the middle of the night. At R&W, we have teams on standby every day and every night.

As the examples below show, we are always available to deliver the right solution, wherever and whenever it’s needed.

Averting a Christmas dinner disaster

We received a call on Christmas day from one of our customers who needed help with an emergency gas main repair. A gas leak meant that unless they could safely access their services via the road, many homes across Winchester would be waiting until boxing-day for their turkeys to finish cooking. Our Sector Scheme 12D accredited low-speed crew was in place within hours allowing the repairs to be made and Christmas to remain uninterrupted.

Mopping up dock-side chaos

A car transporter lorry spilled diesel over one of the most congested roundabouts in Southampton one afternoon creating chaos for traffic leaving and entering the city and the docks. Speed was of the essence as the road needed to be closed, cleaned and repaired as quickly as possible. R&W received the call and worked with the authorities to carry out and complete the works that evening.

Providing assistance after the Shoreham air disaster

Everyone knows the scale of the tragedy that happened at Shoreham in August 2015. We received a call for assistance that Saturday afternoon and made up traffic direction and diversion signs overnight. We also provided a variable message sign to keep the members of the public informed and we controlled access to the crash site. Along with all the other companies and agencies who worked together so effectively during that period, we received thanks from the Chief Constable of Sussex Police for the considerate support we provided.

These are just a few examples of the emergency response services we provide to a wide range of customers including local authorities, utility companies, main contractors and other private businesses. Our high levels of client satisfaction mean that a large proportion of our work comes from repeat business and we are often the “go-to” provider in our area.
Customers know that they can rely on R&W to deliver quickly, efficiently, professionally and safely. We have many client testimonials that we are happy to share with new customers, here are just two examples:

“The R&W traffic management crews we have on site are a breath of fresh air. They are proactive, responsive, diligent and provide a first class professional service. They work well as part of the site team, keeping their colleagues safe and traffic flowing smoothly and safely through the site. The co-ordination and planning of the traffic management is all we could expect and more, with regular updates and innovative design solutions to cover the scheme’s ever evolving needs by the onsite TM Co-ordinator makes for a welcome addition to the team.”

“Just wanted to drop you a quick line to thank your team for their hard work and effort providing effective traffic management and subsequent road closure on the A24 vehicle roll over last Thursday 10th March. Needless to say we could not have had our vehicle recovered without the action of your lads and I just wanted to take 2 minutes out to congratulate them on such a professional service.”

Can we help you?
If you need emergency traffic management support, one of our managers will assess your needs and work with you to establish the best course of action. We can then engage our standby teams to put the right solution in place, fast.
